HONORING THE HANDS
A Celebration of Long Island Agricultural Workers

First Annual HRHCare Foundation
Long Island Wine Identification Contest & Tasting
HRHCare Foundation

In 2000, a group of community members recognized that HRHCare needed resources to sustain the Health Center as it expanded to meet the growing needs of the region’s most vulnerable populations, including agricultural workers. Thus, the Foundation formally incorporated in 2002, with the mission of cultivating philanthropic relationships to raise charitable dollars, raise community awareness and enhance the ability of HRHCare to increase access for people in need of comprehensive, quality primary and preventive care.

Your support allows us to build on our commitment to addressing the complex needs of our most vulnerable community members.

Agricultural Health Care Fund

Farmworkers and their families often have no voice and nowhere else to turn when it comes to their healthcare. However, many of these families receive vital medical and dental services at our Health Centers, often presenting with inordinate levels of serious health issues, including poor nutrition, asthma, musculoskeletal conditions, and a lack of preventive care.

HRHCare has created a partnership with Long Island Sustainable Winegrowing to host “A Day of Health Care” Days at local Suffolk County member farms to introduce agricultural workers to our Health Centers, so that each worker and their family can find a medical home and make a connection with a health care professional that understands their unique needs.

It is with these sentiments in mind that we thank you for your support at our First Annual Long Island Wine Event to achieve a $100,000 goal for our Agricultural Health Care Fund.

Wine Identification Contest

The Honoring the Hands Wine Identification Contest will test your wine expertise! The contest will consist of multiple rounds in which participants will be asked to identify varietals. After each round, contestants not able to identify that specific wine will be eliminated until there is a final contestant who will be named the winner. The winner will be awarded a prize.

Photography Exhibition

Edward C. Hansen is a recipient of a 2014 Haym Solomon Medal of Excellence from the “Celebrating Color” Art Competition held in NYC. Recent exhibitions include “Art By The Falls” sponsored by the Babylon Village Arts Council, “A Day on Long Island” at Huntington Arts Council, “Local Color” with the Islip Arts Council, and “Waves and Watercolors” at the Cold Spring Harbor Whaling Museum. Mr. Hansen is a member of the Babylon Village and Islip Arts Councils.

Francesco Mastalia has documented over 100 farmers and chefs of the Hudson Valley using the wet plate collodion process, a technique developed in the 19th century when the art of photography was in its infancy. His amber toned images remind us of a time when the cultivation of land was a manual process that linked the farmer directly to the soil. This exhibit illustrates his photographic odyssey as he discovers that his subjects all possess a deep commitment and respect for the food and the planet.

Sculpture installation donated by Wilfredo V. Morel
Martha Clara Vineyards will be the setting for a series of sculptures by acclaimed artist, Wilfredo V. Morel. His sculptures are created from recycled materials related to the communities where the materials are found. Wilfredo’s work provides a powerful symbolic model for art as a focal point in urban renewal, emphasizing a revitalization of discarded and neglected resources. Viewing his sculptures allows one to connect to those working the fields and the land itself. His works are for sale with a portion of the proceeds going to the HRHCare Agricultural Health Care Fund. Wilfredo is also donating a special sculpture as a part of the live auction.
